Dear colleagues,

With the easing of Public Health Measures today, I would like to confirm that while there is no longer any legal or national requirement to wear face-coverings/masks in most settings the University is recommending that students and staff continue to wear face-coverings/masks in all teaching and learning spaces, including lectures, laboratories, kitchens, workshops, indoor buildings, shared communal areas and the library to continue to keep our community safe.

I would like to acknowledge the significant effort and contribution that you have all made to support all within our community.

Best regards,

Professor David FitzPatrick
President
