Comment: The panel noted that the programme content is aligned well with industry and employment needs. The panel discussed with the School how AI and Sustainability have been incorporated into the curriculum. To enhance this further, the panel recommends that more explicit reference in the module descriptors is made in relation to how sustainability is included.
The panel also recommends that the programme module content should clarify how to include the services of inclusion of AI and Machine Learning in pipelines rather than a deep dive into AI and ML in general.
In addition, DevSecOps should be more explicitly included in the relevant module descriptors

Section F Overall Recommendation of the Panel
1. Recommend continuing approval of programme as sub	omitted, with	out 🗆
l .

2.	Recommend continuing approval of programme, subject to minor amendments/editorial changes to be completed as soon as possible and with recommendations for consideration.
	Note: recommendations are attached where it is considered that the programme would benefit from particular changes, or from a review of certain aspects of the programme over a period of time, with changes made if required. While recommendations are advisory in nature, there is an expectation that all recommendations are responded to appropriately and acted upon as appropriate.
3.	Recommend continuing approval of programme subject to the fulfilment of	$\boxtimes$ conditions. Recommendations for consideration may also be attached.
	Note: conditions are attached where it is agreed that changes must be made to the programme / programme documentation prior to the commencement of the programme. Conditions must be set where issues are identified that relate directly to academic standards or to University regulations or procedures. It should be clear what is required in order to meet the conditions.
	A new programme cannot go forward to Faculty Board for consideration unless a response to the Review Report is submitted with revised programme documentation.
4.	Do not recommend continuing approval of programme.

Areas	Areas for commendation
1	Good practice in teaching and learning
2	Content aligned well with industry needs
3	Good student support
4	Good practices in relation to support of the Research Project
5	Extensive Stakeholder feedback was sought as part of the Review Process

Conditions of Approval

1. For the programme to be delivered on a full-time basis, further documentation should be submitted which clearly demonstrates the delivery schedule for the programme, the proposed approach to learning and teaching, the induction / onboarding process and confirmation of the resources available to deliver the programme.

Response:

An updated student handbook for the MSc in Computing with DevOps has been provided. The student handbook covers both the part-time and full-time programme equally. The programme schedule provided in section 4.1 identifies the semester in which modules are offered on each of the full-time and part-time versions of the programme. Sections 4.3 and 4.4 provide details of the scheduling of classes for full-time and part-time students respectively. Section 5.6 provides indicative assessment calendars for part-time and full-time students. Sections 6.5 and 6.6 describe the orientation and induction processes and detail the pre-reading material that is provided to students in advance of commencing the programme.

The School can confirm that sufficient resources are available to run this programme. The part-time programme is currently running and the full-time programme is listed in the University's enrolment plan as a key part of the Faculty of Computing, Digital and Data's strategy to increase enrolments, including enrolments of international students.

2. Provide details on the Programme and Module Catalogue in relation to the exit awards that have been approved for the programme. It is good practice to also include the programme learning outcomes for the exit awards stated.

Response:

The details including learning outcomes for the Postgraduate Diploma exit award has been added to the entry in the Programme and Module Catalogue and to section 3.7 of the Student Handbook.

Recommendations

1. Provide a document for students that outlines the process and milestones for the research project and research methods / proposal module and develop a Project Handbook.

Consideration could be given to asking for a publication format as part of the deliverables for the project.

Response:

Additional information about the expectations for the Research Project has been provided in section 5.7 of the Student Handbook. Students are provided with detailed guidance throughout the programme as they prepare for, implement and submit their Research Project.

2. For part-time students, consideration should be given to providing more guidance on academic writing within the onboarding processes / pre-reading for the programme.

Response:

Information on Academic Writing is included in section 6.4 of the student handbook. The programme team will ensure that all the required guidance on academic writing is provided to the students as they prepare for and write up their Research Project, and as they complete the taught modules on the programme.

The panel has also made a recommendation that for part-time students: Consideration should be given to providing pre-reading for the programme to facilitate onboarding, particularly for the benefit of returners to Higher Education.

Response:

The School recognises the importance of supporting students on their transition to postgraduate study and welcomes this recommendation. The School will add keep the materials ensure that students are provided with all required pre-reading to help them prepare for their studies. Information on pre-reading materials has been added to section 6.6 of the Student Handbook.

4. Further consider the role of group work on the programme and whether this should be increased. Provide further documentation for students on good teamwork practice and how issues, such as "free-riders" might be addressed.

Response:

The School welcomes the recommendation to keep the volume of group work under review. Drawing upon guidance provided in a detailed study on group work conducted in

-	the Faculty of Business (provided as an attachment), the school will ensure that best practice on group work is implemented in the programme. While recognising that there are greater challenges in facilitating group work for part-time students, the school also recognises that the experience that part-time students possess from their employment will add a richness to the groups in which they participate. The role of group work in the programme will be kept under review by the programme team.  Include more explicit reference in the module descriptors in relation to how sustainability
5.	and DevSecOps are included.
	Response:
	The programme team have reviewed all modules and updates have been made to the module descriptors to ensure greater visibility for sustainability and DevSecOps.
6.	The programme module content should clarify how to include the services of inclusion of AI and Machine Learning in pipelines rather than a deep dive into AI and ML in general.
	Response:
	The programme team have reviewed all modules and updated have been made to the module descriptors to ensure greater visibility for AI and Machine Learning in pipelines.
7.	In the documentation provided to students, the full module descriptors for each of the modules should be included. In addition, regular reminders on the assessment schedules and contents of the student handbook should be issued to students.
	Response:
	The full module descriptors, as downloaded from Akari, will be provided to students. The versions previously included in the student handbook have been removed.
8.	Further consideration should be given to the assessment schedule of the programme.
	Response:
	Indicative Assessment Schedules for the programme have been added to section 5.6 of the Student Handbook. The Assessment Schedules will be kept under constant review. The Faculty of Computing, Digital and Data has recently developed guidelines on Assessment Scheduling (attached) that will be used to guide the scheduling of assessment on this and other programmes in the Faculty.
9.	Consider providing more tutorials for pastoral and academic guidance and signposting students to relevant student services such as the Academic Writing Centre and the Maths Learning Centre
	Response:
	Information about student supports is included in section 2 of the Student Handbook ad have been highlighted in section 6.7 of the Student Handbook. The Faculty of Computing, Digital and Data has recently filled the role of Transitions Coordinator. Through this role, additional guidance will be offered to students in the Faculty on the resources available to them. The Transitions Coordinator presented to all new postgraduate students at the orientation that took place in September, and it is intended that this will continue for future intakes of students.

10.	Consider providing more detailed grading rubrics for each high stakes assessment
	Response:
	The programme team provide rubrics with their assessments. The level of detail provided in these rubrics will be reviewed to ensure consistency across modules and to ensure that students have all the required information to support their engagement with their assessment. A detailed indicator of the standards required for the assessment of the Research Project has been included in section 5.7 of the Student Handbook.
11.	For reviews, in the future consider providing an executive summary / recorded presentation which summarises the key points being covered in the Review.
	Response:
	The School welcomes this recommendation and suggests that the provision of an executive summary identifying key points becomes a requirement for all reviews in the University.
12.	Provide the panel with previous course board meetings for the past 3-5 years' to refer to providing the minutes / notes of these meetings.
	Response:
	The Faculty of Computing, Digital and Data is currently engaging in a pilot of the Discipline Programme Boards that are a key feature of the Quality Framework. The implementation of this pilot has led to greater focus on the exchange of formal documentation as part of the quality assurances procedures. The School will ensure that all documentation is recorded and shared as appropriate going forward. The documentation for the last academic year is provided.
