

APPENDIX 3

Breaches of Regulations

A3.1 General Principles

No student shall breach any of the regulations of the University and no student shall procure or attempt to procure such a breach, whether on her or his own behalf or by or on behalf of any other person.

Cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation, bribery, falsification, personification and other forms of deception, including the possession of material in advance of an examination or assessment, whether carried out alone or with others are instances of unfair practice.

An enquiry into the circumstances relating to an allegation of breaches of the regulations shall be conducted using the current Student Disciplinary Procedures approved by Academic Council and available at <https://www.tudublin.ie/explore/about-the-university/academic-affairs/assessment-regulations/disciplinary-procedures/>